Husserl Circle

October 27, 2010

Dear Members and Friends of the Husserl Circle,

I am pleased to announce that the 42nd Annual Meeting of the Husserl Circle will take place in Gonzaga University Florence from Wednesday, the 27th of April through Saturday, the 30th of April.

Should you wish to participate in the meeting by delivering a paper, the deadline for submissions is February 1, 2011. Papers should have a reading time of no more than 30 minutes. Anyone wishing to submit a paper should send it (or a substantial abstract) directly to me (by email attachment) so that it is received by the deadline. Papers by Italian phenomenologists or on Italian contributions to Husserlian phenomenology are especially welcome. Happily, the number of submitted papers has been growing with each meeting, but that also means that decisions may have to be made about which papers to include. Decisions will be announced by the middle of February 2011.

Gonzaga University Florence (gonzaga.in.florence.org) is located at Via Giorgio La Pira, 11. The most convenient way to get to GUF from Florence Airport is by taxi at a fixed rate of €25. There are city busses that run regularly from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. from the airport to the central train station, Santa Maria Novella. From the station there are many busses that go to Piazza San Marco which is in walking distance to Gonzaga.

As a European city, Florence can be quite expensive (for more information, visit the Florence Tourism website: florence.tourism.com). A number of rooms will be reserved in hotels near Gonzaga. The names of these hotels and details of how reservations should be made, including deadlines for making them, will be posted on the Husserl Circle web page (www.husserlcircle.org/) by 15 November.

I look forward to seeing you in Florence in April 2011.

Sincerely,

Patrick Burke
